First, accept the License Agreement then download the appropriate version for your machine.

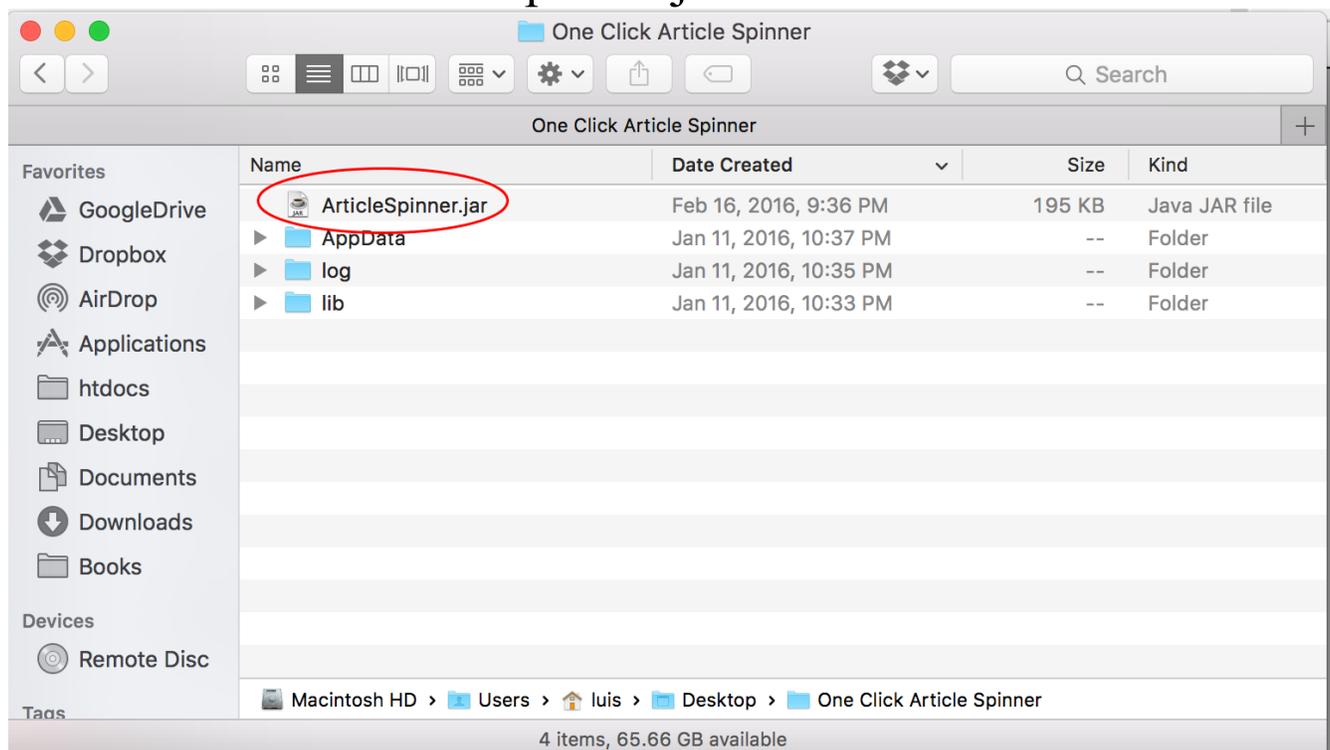

If you are running windows, choose windows version (x86 or x64), same goes with Mac and Linux

After downloading both packages (Firefox and JRE), you can start install both. You can install either one first.

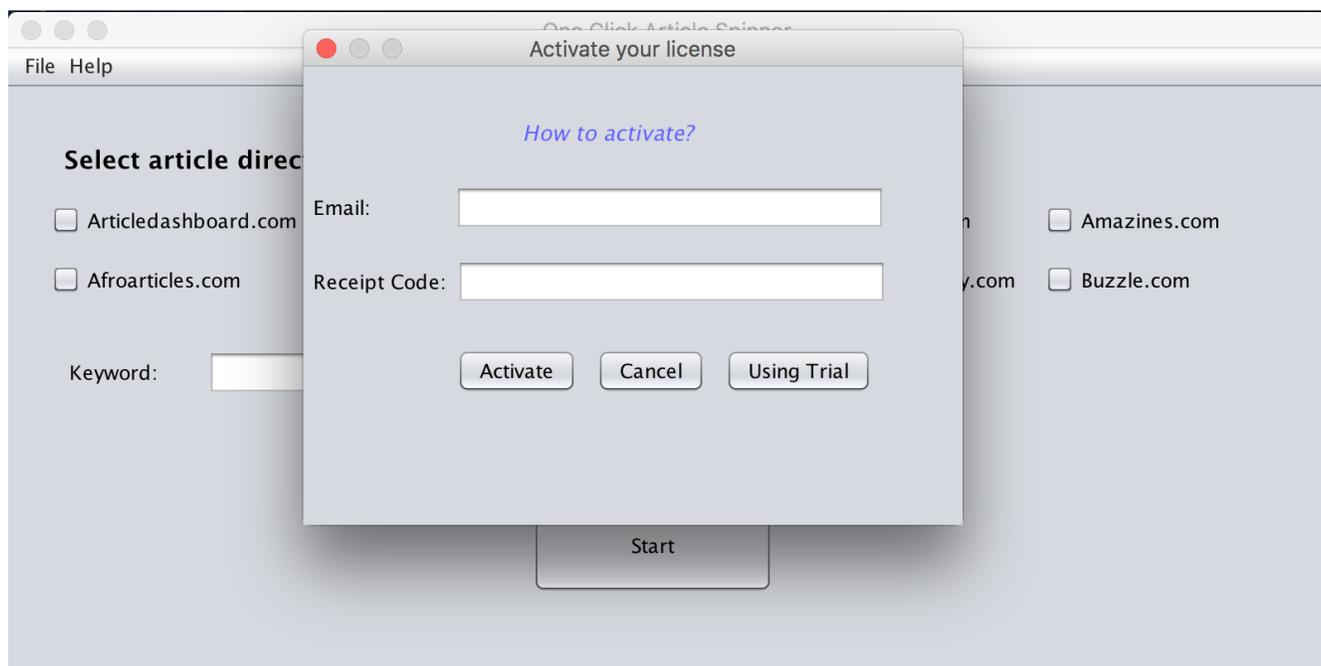

If you have error when installing JRE, it seems you select the wrong version for your machine (your Operating System is x86 but you downloaded x64). Please download the correct package.

After installing both packages, you can now start running One Click Article Spinner (OCAS).

Running OCAS is very straightforward. You just need to double click on ArticleSpinner.jar

You will see this window appears:

Click on Using Trial to activate the trial period. If you have your PRO license, please enter the details to activate the program.

After that, you can start using the program. It is very straightforward.

All you need to do is to select the article directories and your keyword and click on Start.

The program will run a while and return your perfectly spun article.
